

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present invention relates to a spray can and a pressure releasing structure thereof, in which the pressure in the spray can can be easily and quickly released. A spray can 200 comprises a sealed can body 14 for holding a compressed fluid such as cosmetics, paints, or propane gas, a spout path 16 for leading the fluid in the sealed can body 14 to the outside, an opening/closing means 18 for opening and closing the spout path 16, and an open-state maintaining means 202 for maintaining the spout path 16 in its open state.